HUNDREDS of thousands of Muslim pilgrims from around the world gathered in Mecca for the annual Hajj, the largest annual mass gathering in the world, to perform the pilgrimage. The Hajj is a sacred duty for all Muslims, and it is a significant event in Islamic history. The pilgrimage is meant to bring Muslims from around the world together to remember the past and to reflect on their own lives.

On the first day of the Hajj, pilgrims perform the Tawaf, a circuit around the Kaaba, which is the holiest site in Islam. The Tawaf is a symbol of submission to God and is performed as a way of expressing solidarity with the Prophet Muhammad and his followers.

During the Hajj, pilgrims perform a number of other rituals, including the Stoning of the Devil and the Stoning of the Devil’s Cairn. These rituals symbolize the rejection of evil and the cleansing of sins.

US job growth strong in June despite darkening outlook

The US job market strengthened in June, defying expectations for a downturn, with the unemployment rate remaining steady at 3.6% and the number of jobs rising to a new all-time high.

The Labor Department reported that nonfarm payrolls increased by 528,000 in June, topping expectations. The unemployment rate was unchanged at 3.6% for a second month in a row.

Economists had forecast 390,000 new jobs and a 3.5% jobless rate. The unemployment rate includes a 150,000 decrease in involuntary part-time workers.

Inflation, wages and other data on the US economy were also encouraging. Average hourly earnings increased 0.3% in June, and annual wage growth remained steady.

The strong job numbers and rising wages are lifting consumer confidence, which could boost spending in the economy. The Federal Reserve is expected to raise interest rates again this week, but the job market remains strong.

Economists predict that further strong job growth will support the economy as it recovers from the pandemic. The US unemployment rate has fallen to its lowest level since the pandemic began.

Despite the strong job numbers, concerns remain about inflation and the Federal Reserve’s plans to raise interest rates. The central bank is expected to raise rates by a total of 250 basis points this year to combat rising prices.

However, the job market remains strong, and the unemployment rate has fallen to 3.6% for a second month in a row. The strong job market is a positive sign for the economy as it recovers from the pandemic.
FIFA fraud at Swiss trial

Ok I have finally finished the trail and I am feeling so nervous, and even before last night I was already feeling so nervous. The trial has been on my mind for the past two weeks. I really don’t know how I managed to get into this situation. I have been feeling so stressed and anxious. It is like a never-ending nightmare.

I really want to go out on the protest court, but now I feel that I am going to be arrested. I know that in the end I will be found guilty and I will have to face the consequences. I know that I am going to be found guilty and I will have to face the consequences. I know that I am going to be found guilty and I will have to face the consequences.
